365telugu.com online news, Bengaluru, September 4th, 2025: Syрма SGS Technology Limited, a leading Indian electronics systems design and manufacturing company, has announced a strategic joint venture with Italy-based Elemaster S.p.A Tecnologie Eletttroniche, a global leader in electronics design and manufacturing.

The new entity, to be named Syrma SGS Elemaster Private Limited, will set up a dedicated facility at Bommasandra Industrial Area, Bengaluru. Spread over ~20,000 sq. ft., the unit will focus on high-reliability electronics across railways, industrial, and medical sectors, and will be equipped with SMT, THT, and box-build assembly lines.

This collaboration brings together Syrma's large-scale, cost-efficient execution capabilities and Elemaster's deep design expertise and strong relationships with European OEMs. The partnership is aimed at capturing margin-accretive opportunities, expanding share in global accounts, and reinforcing "Make in India" solutions for critical, high-growth markets.

Key Leadership Comments:

Sandeep Tandon, Chairman, Syrma SGS: "This JV is a milestone in building a global high-reliability electronics platform out of India. It strengthens India's role as a trusted hub for high-tech manufacturing." APRIRE

Satendra Singh, CEO, Syrma SGS: "The JV ensures focused execution for high-reliability customers, with scalable operations and a phased expansion plan."

Valentina Cogliati, CEO, Elemaster Group: "India is a strategic market. This JV provides a reliable, scalable base to support our global OEM partners with high-quality Made-in-India solutions."

Giovanni Cogliati, CCO, Elemaster Group: "This partnership is a natural evolution of our strong collaboration and will enable us to serve both existing and new customers requiring local production in India."
